

D Day

Four years and two days after we had been driven out of Europe and the tattered remnants of our army had regained British soil, we went back to Europe. Four years ago the British Commonwealth stood alone against the seemingly insurmountable might of Germany and her allies; this week we returned to Europe with the most powerful nations in the world marching shoulder to shoulder into Europe with us. Four years ago the Royal Navy had three old Gladiators to provide us with fighter protection; on Monday morning the invasion fleet was protected by eleven thousand planes. Four years ago we had two tanks armed with two-inch guns to repel any invading German army; today literally thousands of the most heavily armored tanks are rolling from ship to French beach. Four years ago we had three field guns to repel any German attack on the British Coast; today our armies are the best equipped in the world, provided with the finest equipment science can devise and man can make.

On Monday morning, June 6th, we commenced what history will probably record as the beginning of the final stage of the war against Germany. The preparations have been long and, we may rest assured, thorough. For fifteen months now the German industrial army has been subjected to a great attack from the air; an attack that has been gaining in crescendo with every passing month; an attack that has wiped out cities and drastically curtailed the production of supplies and equipment for the German army; an attack which played no small part in the success of the Russian armies. But if German production has been blasted, more recently the communication and transportation systems of Germany and northern France have endured a pounding equally severe. We have sea supremacy and air superiority which is rapidly changing, apparently, to air supremacy. Added to these factors there is the vitally important one of morale. Our men have waited for long years for the word which was given on Sunday night and their morale is unquestionable.

This does not mean that there will be an easy victory. The German is too great a soldier for us to have any hope of that. We may have a beachhead, but he will do everything in his power—and his power must be recognized as still considerable—to throw us out. There will be bloody battles and many cruel casualties. These are the price people must pay to retain their freedom; this history has proved many times.

But there is one thing of which we can be sure. The Allied Supreme Command did not send our armies across the Channel without the sure conviction that everything has been done that could be done, that the time is ripe, and that Victory for our arms is as certain as any battle can be considered certain. The fact that we have made the crossing leads one to believe that Allied Headquarters knows that conditions behind the German lines are such as to cause Hitler's generals great concern; that the German people are approaching the crumbling stage, supplies are short, production curtailed and transportation inadequate. In short, that Europe is like an egg; once the hard shell is broken the remainder will run out.

Our men are now in France, marking the beginning of the end, and of the end there can be no doubt. It is a time of action and excitement for the men in the services. For the people at home it is a time for anxiety and concern. Though the Great Adventure is in full stride in France, we at home can only sit and wait—and hope—and pray—and have abiding faith.

The Sons of Freedom minority among the Doukhobors say that they will not recognize the Mobilization Act. It's hard enough to get those chaps into civvies, let alone into a uniform. But, if they do not recognize the Mobilization Act, they obviously need to be introduced to it.

The Need Of An Air Port

For nearly two decades now Kelowna has been endeavoring to establish an airport with a view to future developments in this newest form of transportation. But the future is now right upon us, pressing hard, and the need is urgent—unless other Interior communities are to leave this city far in the rear.

There can be little doubt that the end of the war will see a tremendous development in private, commercial and passenger air travel. It will not be too many years before planes are as common as automobiles today. Thousands of young Canadians—including many from this district—who have served in the air force will desire to continue in aviation and seek employment in that field. In short, immediately following the end of the war, air transportation will see a tremendous advancement and those cities with landing strips will be able to participate while those without strips will sit on the sidelines and watch the neighboring communities go ahead.

In recent months the picture about small city airports has changed greatly and the emphasis is now laid on a strip rather than a fully equipped airport. This means that considerably less ground will be required and encourages those Kelowna people who have been interested in the matter to further investigation. Indeed, the whole outlook as to location and the ground required has been changed drastically.

Kamloops and Penticton are already on the air map. Vernon expects to be in the near future. These cities in the Interior will be numbered among the probable four hundred communities in Canada which will be prepared to take advantage of the boom in air transportation when it comes at the end of the war.

There was a time when people hesitated to buy automobiles, not because they did not have the money, but because there were few good roads that led any place they wanted to go and there were few service stations where they could get competent mechanical help if they needed it. Here and there across the country small groups of people organized and campaigned for better roads. Dirt roads were graded, then gravelled, then widened, and then paved. Eventually there was a network of good roads running through the continent. People could drive almost anywhere. When people started to drive, it was not long before adequate service station accommodation sprang up. And as soon as that happened, of course, the cycle gained momentum.

And so with the air plane. A few large airports will not encourage much private travel, but as soon as the majority of the larger communities are equipped with land strips, the picture will change.

It is not too much to expect that every new airport will be the nucleus around which would rise several businesses. There might be, for instance, a local flight training school, an air taxi service. Certainly, all first class mail will soon fly. And so, no doubt, will much of our perishable fruits. Who knows what markets may be able to handle local tree-ripened fruit in the near future? And then there is the tourist. There can be little doubt that a very large number of them from south of the border will be flying their own planes and they will go to those districts where they can find the facilities they require.

Wide-awake cities, large and small, right across Canada are now making every effort to ensure that they will have at least an adequate landing strip and be ready to participate in the air travel boom that is coming. They realize, too, that many of their local young men home from the wars will find an outlet for their talents, a means of livelihood in air transportation facilities. Those cities which do not read the handwriting on the wall will be left far behind and the tourist traffic, the employment openings, the travel and mail facilities will naturally go to those communities which are now preparing to receive them.

Another chemical triumph is the production of synthetic quinine. We must naturally take the bitter with the sweet. Still, a cheap synthetic sugar would have been nice.

Kelowna Area Suffers Casualties As Allies Advance In Italy

Past Week Has Seen Several Local Men Wounded Or Missing—None Have Been Reported Killed In Action—Most Wounds Apparently Suffered During Breaking Of Hitler Line—Letters Have Been Received From Men Wounded Less Than Two Weeks Ago

AS a natural sequence of the recent heavy fighting in Italy, in the thick of which a number of Kelowna men have been, casualties from this district are being reported in increasing numbers. During the past week there have been some half-dozen, but for the most part, the official telegrams have indicated the wounds have not been of a serious nature.

Word has been received that Trooper Alfred Johns is suffering from severe multiple burns of the third degree sustained in action on May 25th. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Johns, Okanagan Mission. He is a gunner in one of the tanks of the 9th Armored. A further telegram on Tuesday stated that he is "seriously ill but improving."

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Olson, of Kelowna, have had word that their son, Acting Corporal O. P. Olson, has been slightly wounded. The date and nature of the wounds were unknown. He, too, was a 9th Armored man.

Still another member of the same regiment who is reported to be slightly wounded is Lieut. H. N. (Red) Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams, Strathcona Avenue. He is a member of the teaching staff of the Kelowna schools.

Andrew J. Cook, of Winfield, has received word that his son, Sgt. W. Cook, was wounded in Italy on May 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Matheson received word on Saturday that their son, Trooper Lorne W. Matheson, has been slightly wounded in action in Italy. Particulars regarding the nature of the wound have not yet come through.

On Friday, L. D. Browne-Clayton, of Okanagan Mission, received word that his son, Lieut. E. D. Browne-Clayton, had been reported missing following action in Italy on May 23rd. Lieut. Browne-Clayton was a member of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Williams, of Winfield, whose son, Pte. Walter Williams, was reported as wounded last week, have received a letter from Pte. Williams himself, which says that he stopped some shrapnel from a motor bomb and that he was in both legs.

A letter has also been received from Lieut. Nigel Taylor, son of Capt. and Mrs. Claude Taylor, stating that he had sustained head injuries and was feeling fine.

Mr. F. H. Day, Manhattan Beach, has been advised that his husband, Pte. F. H. Day, of the Westminster Regiment, was slightly wounded on May 24th. On Wednesday, Mrs. Day received further word that Pte. Day had sustained multiple wounds in the left arm and shoulder. He is a son of the late Norman Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gordon, of Waseley Avenue, have received word that their son, Cpl. Arthur Gordon, of the 9th Armored, has sustained injuries in Italy. A letter from a brother in the same unit states that Cpl. Gordon was killed by a bomb which exploded, causing burns about his face and chest. The burns were not considered serious.

O. France, C.P.R. city ticket and telegraph agent, returned on Sunday from Vancouver, where he attended a meeting of the principal C.P. telegraph agents in the province. The meeting was attended by the heads of the company from the East.

The national anthem was played at the commencement of the Empire Theatre performances, and Manager Harper states it was greeted with enthusiasm.

The attack was refought around the coffee counters. Rather, it should be said that information was pooled around the coffee counters, for exact information was scarce.

JAYBEES SEEK PAPER SALVAGE

Depot Now Ready—Want Newspapers Quickly

R. P. Walrod, chairman of the Paper Salvage committee of the Junior Board of Trade, reported on Tuesday that the salvage depot is now ready to receive all contributions. This is located in the McDonald used car lot, opposite the Creamery, and the citizens of Kelowna are asked to get behind this essential effort and deliver their contributions any time of the day or night.

Any one who is unable to bring in the salvage may phone 65 or 947 and the paper will be picked up. All are asked to see that the bundles are securely tied in 25-pound packages to facilitate the handling for shipment.

The Junior Board committee has set as its objective for the month of June a total collection of 30 tons of waste paper, which constitutes a carload. Schools and service clubs are being contacted to assist in this drive by each member bringing at least 25 pounds of paper to each meeting during the month.

It is the hope of the committee, which consists of R. P. Walrod, the chairman, J. Ribelin, President of the Jaybees, and Harry Witt, past president, that every citizen in Kelowna will help the Government in this critical hour and will support the drive.

Shipment of the salvage is guaranteed to a clearing station as soon as a carload is collected, so get behind the committee and collect all your old waste paper and magazines in both legs.

DOMINION DAY ON JULY FIRST

Holiday Will Be Celebrated on Saturday, July 1st

Saturday, July 1st, will be a holiday in Kelowna as it is Dominion Day. E. W. Barton, secretary of the Retail Merchants Bureau, states. During the past few years there has been a tendency to mark this holiday on the nearest Monday, but this year the holiday would be on Saturday, as July 1st falls on that day. The Kelowna Board of Trade had originally marked the holiday on Tuesday, July 3rd, but, in view of the Ottawa announcement, it will be held on Saturday, and all stores will be closed on that day.

L.A.C. R. F. Basham, R.C.A.F., has been transferred from Regina to Dauphin, Man.

News of Attack on European Coast Received Quietly in Kelowna Confidence Is Dominant Note

Most People Slept Peacefully Through Monday Night And Did Not Learn News Until Morning—Broke Too Late To Catch Most People—Flags Soon Appeared On Tuesday Morning—"Soonest Done, Soonest Over," Seems General Feeling

NEWS of the attack on the fortress of Europe came quietly to Kelowna. There were no demonstrations of excitement; no public meetings of prayer. The news was greeted with a spirit of quiet confidence and a satisfaction that the final stage of the war has at last been entered.

Observable too, was concern. Kelowna people did not forget that there are many hundreds of Kelowna men in the three services serving in the European theatre and that the attack inevitably means more casualties. Concern for the safety of local men was very evident, but it was recognized that the attack had to come sooner or later and, it was felt, the sooner it came, the sooner the war would be over and the fear of casualties ended. With this in mind, then, the principal emotion evident in Kelowna was one of quiet confidence.

This was indicated in several ways. The Victory Loan campaigns had not succeeded in getting the merchants' flags out, but quickly on Tuesday morning they began to appear and within a short space of time, Bernard Avenue displayed more flags than at any time since Dunkirk.

The national anthem was played at the commencement of the Empire Theatre performances, and Manager Harper states it was greeted with enthusiasm.

Pays Sacrifice

W.O.2 DERYCK BOND, R.C.A.F.

son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bond, Winfield, who died of injuries received in air operations in Italy recently. He went overseas in February, 1942, after graduation from wireless, bombing and gunnery schools. Previous to enlistment he was employed by the Okanagan Loan and Investment Trust Company.

WAR SAVINGS NEAR $5,000 DURING APRIL

Certificate Sales Topped The Four Thousand Mark

Report of sales of War Savings during April shows that a total of $4,802.50 in certificates and stamps were sold.

Over-the-counter certificate sales amounted to $356.00, with 48 applications. Bank pledges were $1,820.00, with 15 applications, and group payroll purchases in Kelowna amounted to $1,986.00. One application for $400.00 was sent to Ottawa.

Sales of certificates in the city and district amounted to $94.00, with a total of $4,802.50.

VANDALS RUIN FINE PLANE TREE IN CITY PARK

Rip Limbs Off Fine Specimen To Give Vent To Desire To Destroy—Rose Bush Cut Off

Vandals are at it again. Near the Royal Visit Rose, Garden in the City Park there was a fine specimen of a plane tree which had been planted by the city. The tree was just beginning to be something worthwhile, but on Saturday or Sunday night, Kelowna's prize tree—limbs were cut off and stripped off of its branches. The tree is ruined.

The incident recalls the thirty-odd small trees on Richter Street which were deliberately broken off about two years ago; similar incidents on Alberni Street, the deliberate driving over a number of young trees and shrubs in the park last Christmas; the attempt to dump the park bathing houses into the lake; the deliberate prying of the sundial in the rose garden from its pedestal and the breaking of the dial. Incidentally, the lost part of this dial was found this spring in the leaves around the rose bush.

Kelowna is a pretty decent place and its people are pretty decent, but it is obvious that there is at least one moron at large in the city.

On Tuesday morning further damage was found to the park. One of the special rose bushes had been deliberately cut off halfway up the stem and left lying on the ground. The action was deliberate and without purpose, excepting the satisfying of the destructive instincts of some person.

CONSTRUCTION NEARS HUNDRED THOUSAND MARK

Building Permits For May Over $94,000—Less Than $1,000 A Year Ago

Marked by a permit for construction valued at $65,485, covering a cold storage plant for the Cascade Co-operative Union, building permits soared to new heights in May with a total of $94,415. Nine permits for residences were also issued at the City Office. The rise in building permits is apparent when a comparison is made with May, 1943. In that month total permits issued amounted to $905.

Following is the complete list of permits issued during last month:

C. S. DeHart, garage and shed, $150; F. Dawson, residence, $4,000; S. C. B. Godbolt, residence, $2,500; A. R. Pollard, chickenhouse, $50; Nicholas Schmidt, residence, $2,300; L. Jansen, addition to residence, $4,500; M. J. Wagner, residence, $3,550; H. M. Willson, residence, $1,500; A. W. Fraser, addition to residence, $500; A. Kirscher, porch, $75; J. M. and M. M. Jansen, addition to residence, $300; Cascade Co-operative Union, cold storage building, $65,485; Hugo Loxterham, shed, $30; Leigh Henderson, residence, $3,550; L. J. Campbell, residence, $4,500; Miss A. A. Shier, garage, $200; E. H. A. VanDyk, residence, $2,400; D. McLean, garage, $75; A. H. Jarvis, residence, $2,500.

GYRO COTTAGE IS OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Public Invited To Look Over Attractive Summer Home on Sunday

The Kelowna Gyro Club is holding open house at the cottage the club members have built during the past two months on the lakeshore about three hundred yards beyond the oil well, an advertisement in this issue announces. The public are invited to inspect the building from two to five on Sunday afternoon.

The members of the Gyro Club built the cottage with a view of selling it to raise funds for their community activities. The materials put into the building were of the best obtainable. The work was supervised by an expert builder, but all the actual construction has been done by members of the club. The cottage and property will be sold by tender.

The location is one of the most desirable on the lakeshore and the plan of the building is attractive. There is a good sand beach and plenty of shade.

The Gyros are ready to move into it. It is completely equipped with kitchen sink and toilet facilities. It is wired for electricity and well insulated. It is well finished. Of course, there is a fireplace and the view is unsurpassed.

The Gyros are proud of their workmanship and desire to show the people of Kelowna just what a group of men can do when they put their minds to it. So they are asking the general public to come on Sunday, between two and five, to inspect the building. Persons interested in the Gyro cottage should not fail to take advantage of the invitation.

The entrance is a new gravel road beyond the oil well. It will be marked by a sign.

AQUATIC SEASON OPENS TODAY

Auxiliary Function In Afternoon And Opening Dance at Night

Tonight, Thursday, Mayor G. A. McKay will declare the Kelowna Aquatic Club officially open for its third annual season. His Worship will perform the short ceremony during the opening Aquatic dance which will be held in the pavilion. While the official opening will not take place until the evening, the opening day and its functions will commence much earlier in the afternoon when the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Aquatic Club hold their opening festivities in the club pavilion.

In the evening this opening ceremony has taken the form of a fashion show, a bridge party or some other pleasant event. This year the pattern is a little different, but the motive is the same—to open the Aquatic season with as big a bang as possible to remind people that this city is blessed with the finest summer club and organization in the Interior.

The Auxiliary's function this year takes the form of a tea and sale of work. In addition, there has been arranged a program of a varied but entertaining nature.

In the evening the opening Aquatic dance of the season will be held, and those who like to dance to good music, a full moon shining on a placid lake, and an attractive new, decorated pavilion, will find the setting perfectly suited to their wishes.

SOUTH KELOWNA MAN MEETS DEATH BY OWN HAND

Edward Gabriel Quirico Had Lived Here Since 1913—Was In Poor Health

Edward Gabriel Quirico met death by his own hand early Monday morning at his home in South Kelowna. He had been in poor health for some time and had recently returned from Vancouver, where he had undergone treatment.

Coroner T. F. McWilliams stated that there will be no inquest, but a coroner's inquiry is being held. The verdict will probably be, Mr. McWilliams intimated, death from a suicide by his own hand.

Mr. Quirico was fifty-four years of age. He came to Kelowna straight from Italy in 1913. His wife, one son and two daughters reside at home. One brother lives in Oakland, California, and a brother and sister live in Italy.

The funeral services will be held on Thursday, at 2:30, from the office of the Immediate Conceptory, Interment at Kelowna Cemetery.

DOG TROUBLE DOGS COUNCIL

Alderman S. T. Miller, who had been instructed to interview J. H. Rattray, Ethel Street, regarding his dogs, about which the City Council has received complaints, reported that he had interviewed Mr. Rattray, who maintained that his dogs were properly cared for and well looked after.

Mr. Rattray has six dogs licensed under a kennel license of $10.00. These licenses are renewable every year. Alderman Sutherland suggested that the City Council should restrict kennel licenses in residential areas in future and a resolution to this effect was passed without dissent. A kennel license covers four or more dogs.

Kelowna To Break New Trails To Cure Juvenile Problem

City Council Officially Approves The Engaging Of A Community Counsellor To Handle Youth Activities In City—Hope He Will Be Able To Solve Problems Of Individual Boys—Victoria Keenly Interested In Experiment And Willing To Back It With Some Financial Assistance—Committee Will Endeavor To At Once Find Suitable Man For Position—Local Committee Has Been Studying Problem For Some Weeks—Move Has Full Support Of Police And Law Enforcement Officers—An Innovation In British Columbia At Least

Moral Health of Young Is Public Responsibility

THE City Council on Monday night gave its official stamp of approval to a step in this city which may open up an entirely new avenue of approach in this province to the problem of juvenile delinquency. It instructed a civic committee to proceed with the selection of a civic counsellor and to place his name before the Council for ratification. This action follows a recommendation of a committee named at a civic meeting late in March to consider this problem and to take steps to use existing facilities to the best advantage, and also to make recommendations for future action.

As far as is known, the community counsellor idea is an entirely new one. While the same scheme may be functioned in some other city in a somewhat similar manner as proposed here, certainly it has no counterpart in this province. The Department of Social Assistance at Victoria looks with favor on the move and has agreed to support it financially over a trial period of a year at least.

The community counsellor, as conceived by the committee responsible for the action taken on Monday night by the City Council, will perform a dual function. In the first place, he will endeavor to co-ordinate the various activities centered around youth training in the city, such as the Girl Guides, the Boy Scouts, the Pro-Rec, church organizations and several other groups. It is not suggested that he should endeavor to wrest the control of these organizations from those who are now in control of them, or, indeed, even to attempt to give them a new lease of life. Rather it is felt that he could perform a useful purpose by working with them and endeavoring to see that each make the greatest possible use of its facilities and that it serve as large a number of young people as possible. He would endeavor to see that organizations do not overlap and that all boys and girls are fitted into the best spot for them.

Through personal contact with the boys and girls, it is the hope of the committee that he would win their confidence and thus be able to assist them with their problems. He might even be able to correct certain home conditions which are affecting the boy or girl adversely.

In suggesting the community counsellor idea, the committee recognizes that much juvenile delinquency is caused by some emotional upset. It might be a thwarted ego, a desire for companionship, home conditions, neglect at home, favoritism, or even the cutting sarcasm of a teacher.

These things are known to have a profound effect on the minds of some young people, especially if those minds have been prepared in advance or softened up by a continuous sipping of such experiences. It is this angle which the local committee feels is very important in dealing with the juvenile delinquency problem. The committee feels that the youngsters in need of help should be turned to Page 10, Story 1

The King's birthday actually falls in December, but it has been the usual practice to celebrate the birthday with a holiday on June 8th.

Thursday afternoon closing, of course, is the regular practice here. The fact that the King's birthday falls on Friday makes it a little inconvenient for some housewives, if they are not able to do their shopping on Thursday morning.

Alderman Objects To Publication Of Council Committee Decisions

Alderman Sutherland Takes Councillors To Task For Telling Courier Stop Sign Is To Be Placed On Water Street—Says All Actions Of Council In Committee Are Private And Should Be Withheld From Public

ON Monday night Alderman George Sutherland took strong exception to the fact that The Courier had obtained information about the action by Council members in committee in regard to the stop signs at Water and Harvey Avenue.

About a month ago this stop sign was discussed at the Council meeting, and at the insistence of Aldermen Jones and Hughes-Games the Council decided that a count would be made of the traffic along both streets at this intersection. This action automatically threw the matter in the meeting the following Monday, which happened to be a committee meeting. Following that meeting The Courier reported that the Council in committee had decided to place the sign on Water Street.

Alderman Sutherland took violent exception to the fact that The Courier had obtained this information. He maintained that some members of the Council had broken faith, as all committee matters were very hush-hush and extremely confidential. He said that in his opinion this hiding of action done in committee must be rigidly adhered to or the whole policy of committee meetings must be abandoned. His protest was levelled not at The Courier for obtaining this information, but at Council members for talking about action taken in committee.

Alderman Hughes-Games stated that he had told The Courier that he had decided to put the sign on Water. It was a "fait accompli," and he did not and still did not see any harm in making that statement. He protested vigorously Mr. Sutherland's statement that there had been a breach of confidence.

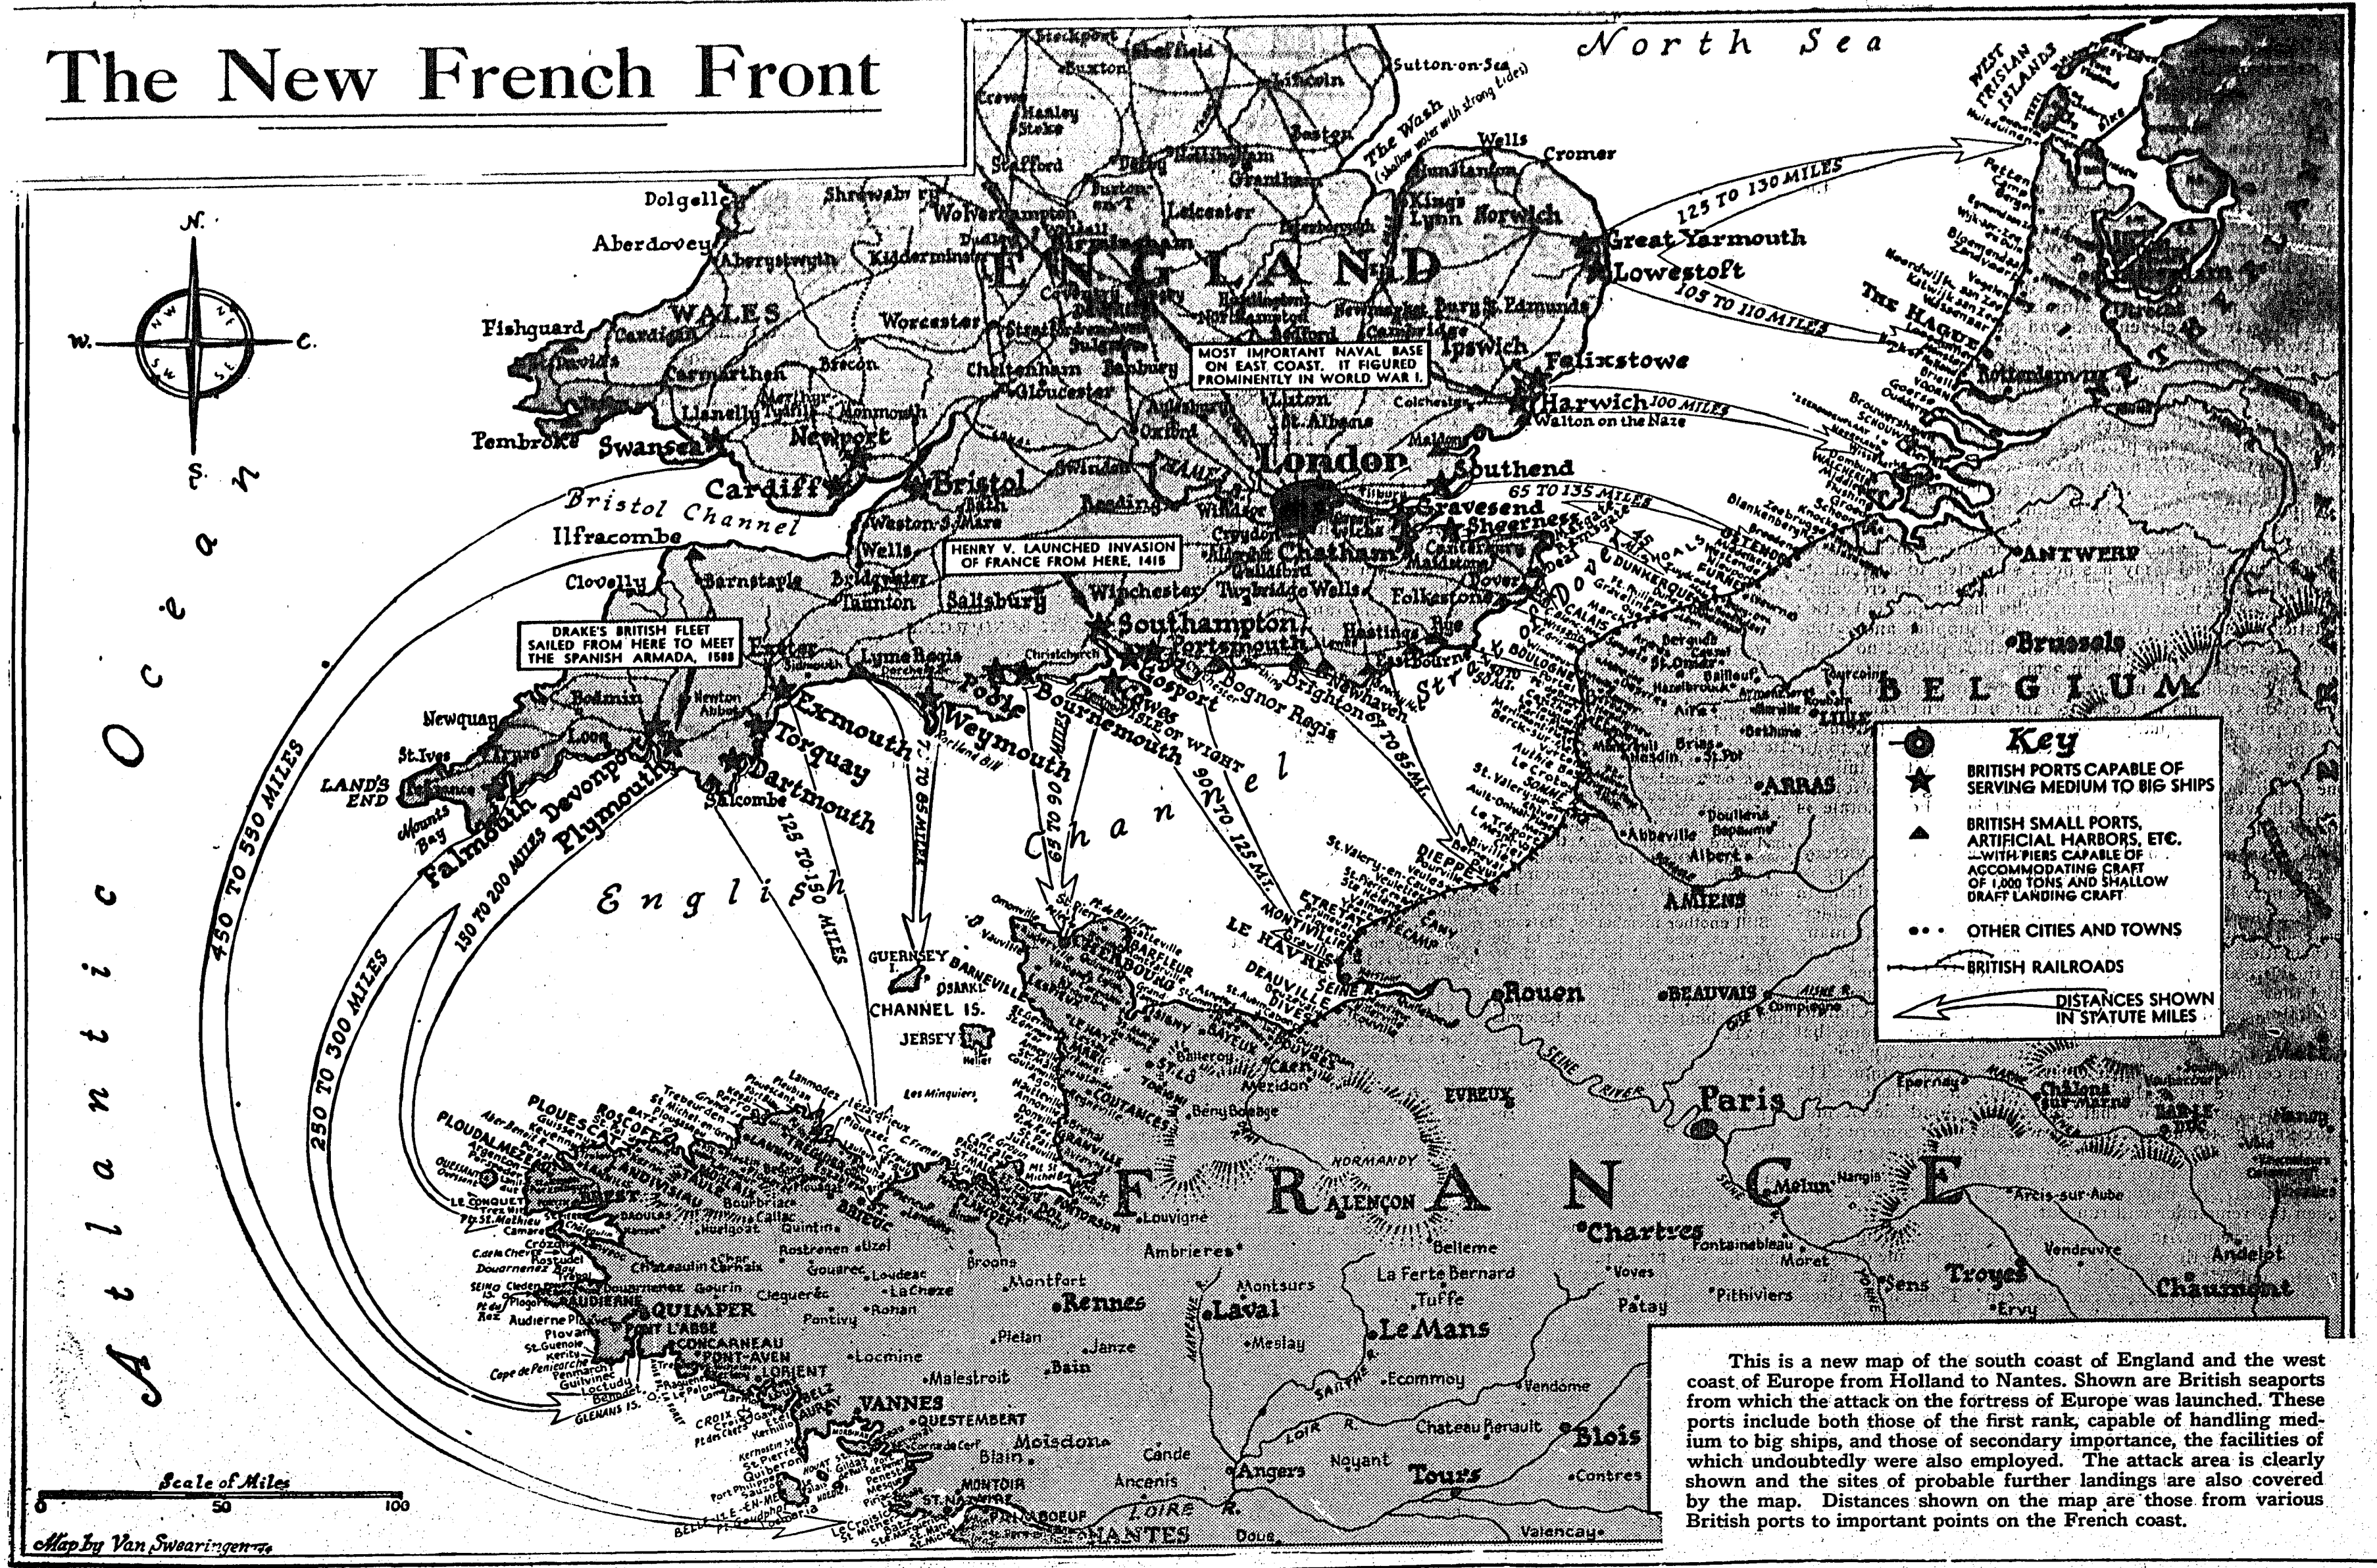

It has been the policy of the Kelowna City Council for many years to do the great majority of its business behind closed doors and in secret. Anything that smacks of a controversial nature is rushed into committee and thus the general public has no access to the reasons why certain action is taken.

Actually the meetings of the City Council are cut and dried affairs, mere matters of routine.

As Alderman Pettigrew and Alderman Jones were not present, the matter was left for discussion by the whole Council.

SUNDAY TO BE BIG DAY FOR GOLFERS

Interior Championship Matches
Here — Garth Macdonald
Wins Binger Cup

Sunday, June 11, will be a big day for Kelowna golfers, when the interior golf championships will be played on the local links. Players from Kamloops, Vernon and Penticton are expected to be in town for the occasion.

The McEwan Cup for the open championship of the Interior will be contested keenly, as well as the Trench Cup, which is the trophy for the open handicap competition. The Jones Cup and the Barton Cup for players over fifty years of age will also be up for competition.

On Sunday, June 4, Garth Macdonald, outstanding golfer among the junior players, won the junior Club championship when he defeated Dick Stewart, Jr., and captured the coveted Binger Cup.

SEEKS CITY'S FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

In a letter to the City Council, Hon. H. G. T. Perry, chairman of the Kelowna Harbour and Port Authority, invites the co-operation of the Council in these matters and offers that body the facilities of the Council may have under consideration in relation to the post-war period.

Mr. Perry also expresses the committee's earnest endeavor to co-operate with the Council in bringing about the fullest co-ordination of post-war measures pertaining to this locality.

In his letter, Mr. Perry recalls that on April 18th last the B. C. Government constituted a committee of the Executive Council, comprising Hon. H. Anscomb, Minister of Public Works, Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor and Provincial Secretary, Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. H. G. Perry, Minister of Education and chairman of the original post-war planning committee.

This committee is directed to collaborate with municipal councils with a view to formulating plans to create, assist, develop and maintain productive employment and to develop the human and material resources of the province, and to that end shall co-ordinate the work and functions of the public service of British Columbia.

Clinical trials of India-grown penicillin have had very satisfactory results in healing infected wounds and war injuries. It is simply spread in the wound and the results produced are amazing.

I Should Have Known

Hindsight is a fine thing, but much finer is foresight. Sitting here in Kelowna this Tuesday evening, almost twenty-four hours after the first news of the landing in France, I can't help but recall another day in London when I listened to a British military expert talk about the French Coast and why this section would be suitable for an attack and why that section would not do at all.

That day, had I only realized it, I was told just where the attack would come. Hindsight now tells me that that day I was very, very dumb. Not that I know that this expert knew where the attack would come. But, if he did not know, at least made a very piercing analysis.

I think, perhaps, I was thrown off because the Cherbourg Peninsula seemed too obvious, too ideal. In fact the only conceivable satisfactory spot for the whole French Coast against which to launch an attack of this magnitude.

Harbors, I remember this expert emphasized, must be one of the first essentials of any large landing.

Landing barges have been developed greatly and there are many specialized types for this purpose. They are only good to land forces and equipment on a coast. They are not capable of keeping the army, once landed, supplied. For this purpose large ships are required and large ships require good harbors and miles of docks. In every one of our previous landings, Sicily, North Africa, Italy, our first objective was to secure a good harbor.

Two of the best and largest harbors on the French Channel coast are at La Havre and Cherbourg. Boulogne, Calais, Dunkirk have harbors, it is true, but they are not nearly large enough to accommodate even a small portion of the vast amount of maritime shipping required to place a large force and its equipment and supplies ashore quickly and keep it there.

The Belgian coastline has only Ostend and Zeebrugge, but again they are not large enough. Antwerp is too far in the interior of the country. This latter objection also applies to Amsterdam and Rotterdam in Holland, both of which are several miles from the sea and their coast is guarded by dangerous sand bars. The scarcity of good ports on the western side of the peninsula also rules out Denmark as the point of a major attack.

On the west coast of France, only Bordeaux offers adequate harbor facilities, but that city is a long way from Berlin.

From the port point of view, Cherbourg and La Havre were very obvious.

But, of course, there are other considerations in any landing. One of these is the possibility of effective air cover, and that depends on distance and the distance is limited by the range of the fighter plane. Here again, Denmark is eliminated, as the jump across the North Sea is a little too far. Holland would be better, but coming to the English coast we find ideal conditions for our air cover, as well as our landing barges. But this coast, because it is nearer to Britain, would doubtless be fortified just that much more strongly and two parallel ways would prove an easy point at which the Germans could rally reinforcements. It is backed by one of the thickest road and railway networks in the world. These same objections apply to the adjacent French coast centered on Boulogne, Calais and Dunkirk.

Cherbourg and La Havre, on the other hand, are a little farther away from Britain but not enough farther to make any material difference to fighter plane or landing barge. This area, too, is not as well served with roads and railways and in addition, it is a little farther away from the German reinforcement centre, and bringing up support for this area would be just that much more difficult.

Going farther to the west, of course, this latter condition is still more favorable, but, on the other hand, it means that our armies would have to travel just that much farther to Berlin.

Discussing this one Sunday morning in our London hotel sitting room, Wilson Woodside told me how he had done a third party expert had written, who had used the Cherbourg peninsula area as an example in the book. As this is written on Tuesday night it would seem that the Allies, in a large degree, have adopted the plan laid out in this book.

As I remember Woodside's summary of the scheme, it included the landing of two parachute divisions across the foot of the peninsula to cut communications and prevent reinforcements from moving in. This seems to be just about what we have done. A third parachute division was to be landed behind some selected landing beach, and it would seem that this was done on Monday night behind Barleur, on the east side of the peninsula.

Reports would indicate that we have severely pounded communication lines running to or from the west as well as from the south to this area. The plan apparently is to isolate the peninsula region until we have time to bring in our heavy equipment and full force and supplies through the port of Cherbourg. Again following the plan outlined in the Czech's book.

La Havre, too, is on a bit of a peninsula formed by the English Channel and the estuary of the Seine. There are indications that there, also, we are attempting the same scheme.

Yes, if I had been awake three months ago in London, I should have been able to guess that the Cherbourg-La Havre stretch of coast would not be wanting for attention when the crossing commenced. But this area was too ideal, too obvious. Too obvious, indeed, I thought, to be attacked. So ideal for our purpose that it would be very, very strongly defended.

But up to Tuesday evening at least the strength of the defenses has been one of the major surprises of the attack. Apparently it is much, much weaker than any had anticipated. The Navy had little difficulty in getting the men ashore. The coastal guns about which the Germans had boasted have played no major part. Once landed, apparently our men penetrated inland quite quickly and effectively. There has scarcely been a single enemy aircraft reported.

This seems all too good to be true. But it does lead one to wonder if the softening-up process has not been almost as effective as the Bomber Command claimed. The shore guns apparently have been largely put out of action; important bridges and railway and road communications have been effectively wrecked.

In Britain, it was no secret that the Allied air forces were doing everything in their power to eliminate the German air force before the arrival of D-day. But the German planes simply did not come up. Is it possible that we did much more damage than we knew? Is it that the German air force is so small that it did not dare attack the tremendous air cover we provided our landing forces?

Is the German air force being held in reserve? If so, to what purpose?

If the German air force is indeed as weak as it would appear to be as this writing, the task of our ground forces will be much easier as our bombers can operate almost unscathed. It would mean the shortening of the war by many months.

At present it would appear that the margin of decisive victory will lie in what our airborne forces and air support and advanced army units can do during the next few hours to hold off enemy concentrations against us.

Casualties

In Britain we were told repeatedly by high British and Canadian army officers that they did not expect the casualties to be particularly heavy in any attack on the French coast. One high Canadian officer who had just returned from an Italian command to prepare for a major part in the French attack said that he did not believe the casualties would be any greater than those experienced in the landings on Sicily or Italian beaches. He said that Dieppe had been an excellent demonstration of how not to attack and many valuable lessons had been learned there. With the added experience of amphibious operations gained in the Mediterranean, he felt that casualties in an attack on the French coast would not be unduly heavy.

authorities did not think this would be a serious factor. They pointed out that the Channel is shallow and this means that planes have an excellent chance to spot subs. In addition, the Channel is comparatively confined and submarines would have much difficulty in taking the desirable evasive action. British naval people we talked to expressed the opinion that submarine attacks could be handled without too much difficulty. One submarine officer stated that he would not be happy about operating a sub in the Channel against an Allied fleet. He said it would be practically a suicide mission.

PEACHLAND AVERTS WATER SHORTAGE

Diverts Water From McDonald Creek — W.C.T.U. Contest Winners

Speedy action has resulted in a serious water shortage being averted in Peachland this year, and now orchardists of the district may look forward to an adequate, if not bountiful, supply of water in their irrigation ditches.

Early in May it became apparent that the North Fork storage dam was not going to fill with the amount of water running in Deep Creek this year. The situation was so serious that a repetition of the disastrous drought conditions of 1929-1930 was feared and steps were taken to find an additional supply of water.

Various schemes were discussed and, as the situation grew apparently more desperate, the harrassed Municipal Council decided that an application would be made to divert a portion of the flood water from McDonald Creek to the Deep Creek watershed.

Permission was granted at once by the Water Rights Branch, and the preliminary grading was started on May 18th, with actual construction commencing on May 25th. The job was completed on June 2nd, in almost record-breaking time.

Considerable difficulty was encountered in securing the required metal flumes, but this was overcome through the co-operation of the manufacturers. The rapidity with which the work was done was due in a large measure to the co-operation extended by all interested parties, including S. M. Simpson, Ltd., who supplied the bulldozers, without which the job would have been impossible in the available time. The flume is 1,800 feet long.

The junior bronze medal in the Peachland W.C.T.U. medal contest, held on Thursday last in the United Church, was won by John Bauer. The senior bronze went to Clara Wilson, while a book each was presented to Margaret Bauer and Bobbie West, the contestants in the junior silver medal competition, the medal in which was not awarded as there were not sufficient competitors.

The contest was under the direction of Miss A. E. Elliott, and Mrs. Z. C. Witt assisted at the organ. Competitors in the junior bronze contest were Marjorie Shaw, who recited, Shirley Cousins, John Bauer, Gretel Dorn, Verna Nelson and Noel Witt.

Those who competed in the senior bronze contest were Elizabeth Bauer, Agnes Wilson, Betty Smalls and Clara Wilson. The judges were Mrs. J. Dowler, Rev. J. A. Gillam and Mrs. F. E. Wright.

The program also included recitations by six of the younger children, an organ solo by Miss Kathie Sims, a recitation by Marjorie Shaw, a duet by Shirley Cousins and Noel Witt, a solo by Miss Audrey Joy, a short address by Rev. A. D. MacKinnon on "The Basic Responsibility of Parents," and a solo by Miss Ruth Wilson.

The monthly meeting of the W.A. of St. Margaret's Anglican Church was held on Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. G. Dell. The sum of $3.00 was voted to the Sunday School Van. In the absence of Mrs. J. Bush at the Coast, the report on the annual convention of the Kootenay Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary, held at Penticton, was read by Mrs. Milner-Jones.

Mrs. H. A. Solly welcomed the delegates and officers and spoke of the wonderful work the branches are doing. Mrs. M. T. Percival asked for leaders to train young people to be responsible and able to help others, as there is a lack of leadership. Mrs. R. B. Hughes, secretary for girls' branches, is doing splendid work organizing the summer camp for girls.

Miss Hellaby gave a very interesting talk on the work she is doing at the Chinese Mission in Vernon and told how life is so different there from that in China. As far as the children are concerned, they join the Brownies, Girl Guides and Junior W.A. Miss Hellaby has five foster children in her home and has adopted one girl of ten and a half years whom she has had for eight years. Miss Hellaby has never worked in China but speaks the language, and she asked her hearers to do all they could for Chinese missions here or abroad.

Miss Illingworth spoke about her work with the Sunday School van and asked for help in the carrying on of this work. Mrs. Bush then

WINFIELD MAN IS MARRIED AT PENTICTON

Alfred Berry and Bride Will Live At Oliver

A wedding of interest to residents of Winfield took place in Penticton on Tuesday, May 30, when Janet Briscoe became the bride of Alfred Berry. They motored to Revelstoke, where they will spend their honeymoon, stopping en route in Winfield to visit the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Berry. The young couple will reside in Oliver.

Cpl. Alec McDonagh spent a week-end leave at his home here last week. He is stationed at Prince George.

Allen Elliot was home on leave from Vancouver, where she had been visiting her parents.

Mrs. B. Patterson has returned from Vancouver, where she had been spending a vacation in Vancouver and Victoria.

Mrs. Munro, St. Vancouver, is visiting her son, Gordon, and his wife.

Mrs. R. P. White had her mother, Mrs. Ashman, of Lavington, visiting her.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Earl, Enderby, were visitors to Winfield last week.

Mrs. L. Roberg was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Draper.

Kathleen Hayworth is visiting her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Draper.

Mrs. G. Toppin and George, of Peachland, have been visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Moody.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Pritchard and Marion and Yvonne, of Grindrod, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. Metcalfe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Debert and daughter, Lorraine, of Avonlea, Sask., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Holtz.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Shaw and family spent a week's vacation at Oliver at the home of Mr. Shaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Metcalfe were visitors at the home of Mrs. Metcalfe's mother, Mrs. Somerset, of Peachland.

Justin MacKinnon is spending a combined business trip and vacation in Vancouver.

Mrs. I. E. Doran, of Isabella, Man., with her daughter, David, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. Doran, who also has as her guest Mrs. Clarence Graham, of Fanny Bay, B. C.

Miss Anne Nickel has her mother, Mrs. Nickel, of southern Saskatchewan, visiting her.

BUY CITY LOTS

The City Council on Monday night raised no objection to the sale of certain lots on Roanoke Avenue. Lots 24, 25 and 26, on the north side of Roanoke, just west of Kingsway, will be sold to G. G. Firth, while lots 14, 15 and 16, which are on Roanoke east of Kingsway, will be sold to Milne O'Hara. The lots will be sold at the regular city price, which is two-thirds of the assessed value.

spoke of the wonderful hospitality shown to them by the W.A. members in Penticton.

The Peachland United Church had as guest speaker on Sunday, June 4th, J. A. Gellatly, of Vancouver. In twenty minutes he gave a succinct and comprehensive impression of the gathering, touching on the weak spots as well as elaborating on the salient points such as the urgent necessity of securing the allegiance of the young people to the church. He paid tribute to the work of the Junior Choir, which was leading in the music of the church at Peachland at the time and sang as a special number "We have a story to tell to the Nations." The use of that story, the speaker remarked, would settle all our world problems. He also alluded to Dr. MacKinnon's success in getting the young people at Westbank and Peachland into the active work of the church. A large congregation was present. Mr. Gellatly also spoke at Westbank. Rev. George E. King, a missionary from China, will speak at Peachland on June 12, at 3:00 p.m., and at Westbank at 7:30 p.m.

A large fish, 15 pounds, 7 ozs., was caught half a mile off the C.N. wharf last week by C. T. Redstone, and was entered in the Okanagan Lake Rainbow Trout Derby. The lake was cloudy and calm at the time and the lure used was F.S.T.

Owing to the increased number of pupils registered in the Peachland School, it will be necessary after the holidays to open another room, making four rooms instead of three.

Miss Thelma McKinnon arrived from the Coast on Monday, May 29, to spend a holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McKinnon.

Mrs. J. McIntyre was a guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Dorland.

Mrs. A. S. Miller and daughter arrived from the Coast on Wednesday, May 31.

C. C. Inglis left for the Coast last Friday to attend the convention of municipal officials.

Miss Audrey Joy spent the week-end at her home in Summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Witt returned home on Friday.

Mrs. B. F. Gummow returned from the Coast on Saturday.

Mrs. T. Twinn left Saturday to spend a few days in East Kelowna.

Lieut. L. H. Hill spent the week-end at home.

Mrs. Somerset left for the Coast on Saturday.

AQUATIC GALA OPENING TODAY

Crowded Afternoon And Evening At Summer Centre

The regular meeting of the Ladies Aquatic Auxiliary was held on Monday evening, June 5, when final plans were made for the official opening of the Aquatic this afternoon, Thursday, when this outstanding annual function will take the form of a tea and sale of work together with a program of a varied nature.

The newly decorated dance hall will be open for inspection, and tea will be served both there and on the porches. Many attractive articles of handwork will be on sale, as well as flowers. The proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the Aquatic directors to assist them in sponsoring the annual Regatta as well as for the upkeep of the Aquatic premises.

In the evening the first dance of the season will be held, when the dance-minded of Kelowna are assured of a good time, with a novel program arranged for their entertainment. It is expected that Mayor and Mrs. G. A. McKay will be in attendance and that the Mayor will officially open the Aquatic for the coming season.

ZONE BYLAW CHANGES ARE ARRANGED

Small Change In Industrial Area Near Knox Mountain

On Monday night the City Council decided to make certain changes in the zoning by-law to permit a readjustment of the industrial zone in the north end of the city. At present the northern border of the industrial zone runs from 197th Street down the centre of that street to Cherry.

It was agreed that the new boundaries should be down Roanoke to Ellis and along the centre of Ellis to Oxford and then to the lake. This permits the property recently exchanged with S. M. Simpson, for the new park site, to be included in the industrial area. There is only one small residence in the new industrial section.

When a change had been suggested about a month ago, some members of the Council wanted a "buffer" between the industrial area and the new park. This objection has been overcome by an agreement to be made with Mr. Simpson that he will restrict the use of that section of his property that adjoins the new park.

TRADE LICENCES GRANTED

ACCREDITED LAND DEAL OPPOSED BY CITY COUNCIL

J. F. Greer's Desire To Acquire Land At Foot of Wardlaw Meets Opposition

The members of the City Council on Monday night were unanimous in opposition to the efforts of John F. Greer to acquire about one and one-quarter acres of accreted land on the foot of Wardlaw Street and North Street.

The matter was brought to the Council's attention through a letter received from E. F. Little, Government Agent at Vernon, who stated that Mr. Greer had applied for title for this land and asked the Council to approve or disapprove the granting of the title.

While all members of the Council who spoke expressed their opposition, it was Alderman George Sutherland who summed up the Council reaction in a resolution. He said he was opposed to the action for a number of reasons. First, it seemed a cheap way to acquire city property, secondly, it would block others from access to the lake; thirdly, the property would be below the street grade and would be almost impossible to service for sanitation and utility services; fourthly, it would not be in the best general interests of the community; fifthly, if the lake rose, the residents of the house might have some claim on the city.

The property under consideration is situated at the foot of Wardlaw Avenue, where that street runs into the lake. During the past few years the land has been built up there and to the passer-by appears to be a swampy place covered with tule. As the land is accreted land, there is no owner excepting the province. In area it is said to be about 1.23 acres.

No alderman expressed himself as supporting Mr. Greer's request.

Pale-colored paints have been found to be most repellent to the common house-fly, with darker colors more attractive. As for mosquitoes, pink and yellow repel them; blue, red, brown and black attract.

STOP STREET PLAN MAY BE CHANGED

Whole Traffic System May Be Altered, Sutherland Says

In answer to a question by The Courier reporter at Monday night's City Council meeting, Alderman George Sutherland, chairman of the Public Works committee, stated that it might be some time before the sign on Water Street and Harvey Avenue is erected.

Indeed, he intimated that before the matter is settled Water may be no longer a through street in any sense of the word.

The whole matter of stop streets and through arteries in the city is now the subject of study, and the present plan may be completely changed before we are through.

Water Street may no longer be a through street," he said.

He went on to intimate that his committee is considering making Clement a through street throughout its whole length, in order to facilitate the movement of logging trucks through the city.

The matter is being studied, he said, not from the point of immediate convenience, but from the long term view of what would be best for the city in years to come.

MUST CONSERVE WASTE PRODUCTS

New Order Issued Covering Fuel And Sawdust Burners

By a recent Order-in-Council, sawmill operators have been forbidden to use wood for fuel in a sawmill or shingle mill burner. In addition, mills cannot destroy any waste by-product of the mill which is capable of being used for fuel.

Hogging of slabs, edgings, blocks or other wood commonly used for fuel is prohibited, but from now on, with the exception of cedar mill waste.

Sale and installation of sawdust burners is prohibited under the new order in that the acquiring of a burner by any person.

PREACHING IN PARK OUT

The application of J. Nicholas for permission to preach each Sunday in the City Park, at 3:30 in the afternoon, was refused by the City Council on Monday evening. Most of the members of the Council seemed to feel that it would be better to keep all such meetings outside the Park, arguing that the purpose of the Park was to provide quiet, relaxation and amusement for the people of the city. There was some discussion about a remote place where such meetings might be permitted, but there was never any place selected as suitable and available for this purpose.

WILL MAKE NEW LANE

On Monday night the City Council decided to take advantage of the opportunity offered and extend the lane running parallel to Richters and from Sutherland towards Elliott, through to Elliott.

The lot on the corner of Elliott now belongs to the city and the lane will be extended along the creek bank through this lot to Elliott.

In advocating the taking of twenty feet of the lot for lane purposes, Alderman Sutherland said that such a step now might save many complications in the future, including the building of a bridge over the creek for the lane. All members of the Council readily agreed with him.

OKANAGAN MISSION

F. Barlee, of Trail, spent a few days with his cousin, J. W. Barlee, Mr. Barlee plans to bring his family to live in the Mission.

Pte. A. Olson is home on leave.

At the annual meeting of the Okanagan Mission Community Hall Association, held on Thursday, June 1, the executive for the past year was re-elected with the exception that B. Farris took the place of Miss Kathleen Sealy, whose parents are leaving the district.

Ed. Coelen left on Monday for Vancouver.

Mrs. Ootman has as her guest Miss H. M. Duke, of Kamloops.

SEEK JAPANESE DEPORTATION

The B.C. Command of the Canadian Legion voted on Monday night for a resolution urging that the Japanese be deported from this country at the end of the war.

The action was taken at the annual convention of the B.C. Command held in Vancouver last week-end.

WITH THE SERVICES

(Friends and relatives of men who are serving in any branch of His Majesty's Service are invited to send in contributions to The Courier for this column, either by mail or phoning 54.)

PREVENT WOOD FUEL SHORTAGE

Minister Warns That Shortage May Be Real Next Winter

Despite the mildness of last winter and the improvement in stocks, the Minister of War, Mr. J. A. Munitions Minister Howe has warned.

To help prevent such a shortage, the Minister urged that every Canadian in a wood-burning area should examine the local situation at once, and, if necessary, take immediate steps to build up stockpiles.

At the same time, he suggested that every household should burn wood should, if at all possible, buy his wood at once and store it for use next winter.

As an additional measure, Mr. Howe stated that the period for payment of the $1 per cord production subsidy on fuel wood will be extended to September 30, 1944.

Mr. Howe recalled that a year ago he issued a similar warning, and that the co-operation from municipal authorities and from the public was so good that every household that uses fuel wood was able to obtain his requirements.

"However," he said, "it must not be forgotten that last winter was the mildest in 70 years, and in spite of the mild weather, it was necessary to the extent of 150,000 cords."

The Minister pointed out that so long as manpower is in great demand for the war program, wood fuel will be scarce. The fact that the supply position is easier than in 1943 may have lulled many into a false sense of security," he said.

"Actually the total stocks of firewood throughout Canada are still below normal, and unless these stocks are built up during the summer and autumn a severe winter might find us in a serious position. To guard against such a possibility it is essential that every interested household buy his wood fuel as soon as possible. Such action will do much to prevent the possibility of distress next winter. It will simplify the transportation of wood fuel. It will enable the dealer to clear their yards and order more wood. And it will thus encourage immediate production."

'IAN' QUILTS IF JAPS DON'T GO

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of pensions and national health, gave public support in his speech before the Dominion Command, Canadian Legion, convention in Vancouver on Monday to a resolution passed by last week's Provincial Command convention banning Japanese from British Columbia.

"If I am then in public life," he declared, "I shall not remain 24 hours in any government or party who allows the return of the Japanese to the British Columbia shores."

Warm applause greeted his declaration that "we want the fruitlands, the mines and the fish of this province for the men who fought at Ortona, for the men who braved the Atlantic storms, and for the men who fought the battles of the air."

REHABILITATION GRANT PAYMENTS CHANGED

An extension of the regulations covering payment of a rehabilitation grant to retired or discharged personnel of the naval, military and air forces of Canada was announced recently at Ottawa. The amendment authorizes payment of the grant to certain former members of all three services who were not previously eligible, but it does not apply to those discharged or retired by reason of a sentence of a court martial or disciplinary court, or by reason of a sentence of imprisonment by the civil power. The rehabilitation grant consists of thirty days' pay plus one month's allowance. To be eligible for it, personnel must have completed at least 183 days continuous active service with pay.

THE LITTLE COUNTRY STORE

By EDNA JAKES

It was a little country store, built where four corners meet, where farmers and neighbors passing by just naturally stopped for a bit of gossip, a plug of tobacco or a quart of molasses.

You could look right back through the store into the clean little kitchen beyond—bright linoleum, a shiny stove, one end of the table with a checkered cloth, where the couple who ran the store lived out their quiet days, sober, steady and kindly. They were life-long friends of their customers who "abided by the law," as he said, and would do anything they were asked to do to help along the war effort.

"How do you feel about the price ceiling?" we asked. "After over two years of trying it out, do you really think it's been worth while?"

He leaned over the counter and pointed a finger at me like a school teacher. "It's the only thing that keeps us little fellows in business," he said quietly. "Without a price ceiling we would have been driven to the wall long ago. We're little business, you know, not very powerful, but this is our living, my wife and I, John, who is in Italy."

He pulled a creased, greasy-looking letter from his inside pocket and went on. "It's a queer thing, but before John went away he hated the store! Said it was too small for him; he wanted something big."

BRITISH POST-WAR HOUSES

LONDON.—A new British plan for post-war mass production of prefabricated houses will not only provide 4,000,000 extra homes for Britons but will aid aircraft firms, now turning out thousands of bombers and fighters, in their conversion to peace-time manufacture. Blueprinted by 120 large firms, representing five major British industries—aircraft, plywood, steel tubing, light alloys, and iron and steel—the scheme will benefit from war-learned lessons in aircraft construction and design. For example, Britain, unused to central heating, will have in its new houses heating and insulating devices borrowed straight from its fighting planes. To avoid standardization, five or six basic designs have been prepared. Prefabricated houses, according to engineers, architects, and housewives, will make possible great advances in low cost housing and less than 1,000 man-hours will be needed to build and assemble one of the ready-made homes. This compares with the average of 2,200 man-hours now needed to build an ordinary dwelling.

CANADIAN FRIGATES FOR NAVY

Outstanding achievement in a field where Canadian skill and ingenuity have brought wartime miracles has been the construction of frigates in Canadian shipyards. The Frigate is one hundred feet longer than the corvette, is faster and more strongly engined, carries heavier armament. The average cost is nearly $1,500,000. Deliveries for 1944 are scheduled at a rate close to one per week, with 44 to be delivered. Above are frigates at fitting dock.

KELOWNA TAKES FIRST BALL GAME

Open Mainline League Schedule With Impressive Win Over Kamloops

Making its debut in the newly organized Okanagan Mainline Baseball league last Sunday, the Kelowna ball nine, walloped Kamloops 11-4 at Kamloops.

Kelowna batters made the most of nine hits off "Red" Tulloch, Kamloops chucker, bunching them for four runs in the first and three in the sixth.

Kamloops batters found "Hank" Wostradowski and Paul Bach for an equal number of hits, but they were well scattered. McNeil, with three in four times up, was the star slugger for Kamloops. Kelowna's big hit was Pat Chapman's three-bagger.

Three errors were chalked up against Kamloops and two against Kelowna.

Wostradowski was credited with two strikeouts and Tulloch one. Wostradowski walked one batter. Each one and Tulloch two.

This Sunday the Kelowna nine plays host at the Kelowna ball park to Revelstoke in the second game of the mainline loop. The game gets underway at 2.30 p.m. The locals, who cleaned up in the valley last season, and who have shown power to repeat again this season, complain that the lack of financial support is cramping their style.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING

A Few Briefs Regarding The Attack On The Fortress of Europe

The attack was opened with a tremendous and record-breaking air bombardment of the French coast.

Shortly before midnight Monday, airborne troops were dropped from planes and gliders behind the coastal defences between Le Havre and Cherbourg.

About seven-thirty, British time, on Monday morning, British, American and Canadian troops landed on the beaches of the same area.

They were supported by a tremendous air cover, said to be 11,000 planes. Supporting also were units of the Allied navy, including battle-ships. More than 640 naval guns poured salvo after salvo into the coastal defences.

Landing obstructions carefully prepared by the Germans were partially circumvented by the fact that the attack came at low instead of high tide. This placed many of the obstructions high and dry on the beaches and made others in the water clearly visible. The Germans expected the attack at high tide, apparently.

Four thousand ships are reported to have been used in the attack "in addition to thousands of smaller craft."

The weather was not entirely favorable and many of the soldiers became seasick when near the coast.

The coastal guns were surprisingly weak. They either had been eliminated by the air and naval bombardment or had not been located at the points where the attack was made.

Absent, too, was the Luftwaffe. This was one of the big surprises. Scarcely a German plane has been reported. One group of fifty did appear on Monday for a brief look but quickly disappeared.

The story of the landings is as yet obscure. Some reports state that the opposition was considerable while others indicate the defences were very weak. However, the fact remains that our troops did succeed in landing and in penetrating from ten to twenty miles inland quite quickly.

Canadians were there. The Second Corps. It is reported that they fought for two and a half hours to get a foothold on the beach they attacked and then penetrated inland. They are said to have taken all their objectives on schedule.

The Canadian Navy was also present. It has six flotillas of landing craft which must have been present to get the troops and their supplies to the beach. The two new Canadian destroyers, the Sioux and the Assiniboine, have been mentioned by name.

The objective apparently is the cutting off of the Cherbourg peninsula to obtain the port of Cherbourg and the whole peninsula.

There are indications that attacks have been made on the Le Havre-Deville section of coast. This includes the mouth of the Seine River. German reports also say that an attack on the Calais coast in their rear open to another attack should the Normandy landing be a diversion.

Definite information is scarce in allied official reports. They say, however, that the attack is proceeding quite satisfactorily.

It is expected that German counter-attacks in force will be launched Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Until the Germans are sure the attack is the main one they will not dare to move their main defence forces to face it, as this would leave the Calais-Dunkirk coast in their rear open to another attack should the Normandy landing be a diversion.

The only French town which has figured in the news is Caen, which is 7 1/2 miles from the Channel and has a population of 50,000. It is on the Orne River and has fair docking facilities. It has been captured twice by the English; in 1940 and again in 1947, when it was held until that there was fighting in the streets, but the town was not in our hands then.

Naval authorities have expressed surprise at the small naval losses. They had expected a ten per cent loss in the Channel crossing. Apparently all troops were taken across without loss, according to statements. There have been no reports of British naval losses, although two American destroyers and one supply ship are announced as sunk.

On Wednesday the weather was said to be worsening. The wind blowing against the coast and making landings difficult.

The attack was actually planned for Sunday morning, but weather conditions forced a cancellation after a start had actually been made.

The capture of Rome, the first enemy capital to fall, has been forced into the background. Allied troops are said to be now about fifteen miles north of Rome.

The Allied troops are using several new weapons, according to reports of observers. One of these weapons is a new explosive which is said to be much more powerful than any other in existence. This explosive is said to have been developed in Canadian research laboratories.

One of the mysteries of the past two days is why the German air force refrained from attacking the British embarkation ports or the convoys crossing the Channel. After time to attempt to prevent the attack and not after the troops and supplies are safely landed.

Bayeux, near Caen, is the first town in France to be announced as captured by the Allies. Germans were said to be counter attacking.

Orders for week commencing Friday, the 9th of June, 1944:
Duties: Orderly Patrol for week ending next duty, Otters.
Rallies: The only Rally for the above week will be for the entertainment, which opens at 8:15 p.m. on Friday, the 9th of June, but all Scouts and Cubs are asked to be at the Scout Hall by 8 p.m. sharp. After the Flag Raising, for which all the Scout visitors as well as are asked to take the form, the next item will be the official Going-up Ceremony for those Cubs who have reached the age of twelve and are being transferred from the Pack to the Troop.

After the entertainment there will be no further regular rallies of the Troop until the fall term, apart from our three-day camp and hike into the hills. This does not mean by any means that Scouting is to take a rest, however, because the summer of course is the ideal time for getting out into the woods in patrols or smaller units to experience camping and practise woodcraft. We hope to hear during the summer of many such trips and to receive applications for badges for out-of-doors work, such as Botanist, Camp Cook, Camper, Canoeist, Cyclist, Farmer, Forester, Gardener, Horseman, Naturalist, Pathfinder, Photographer, Pioneer, Poultryman, Prospector, Rescuer, Signaller, Stalker, Starman, Stockman, Swimmer, Tracker and Weatherman. Certainly no Tenderfoots in the Troop should fail to complete their Second Class tests, and then there is all the First Class badge work.

It is hard to keep our minds on the daily task, the common round here in this peaceful corner of the world, when we see what so many hundreds of our old Scouts and their comrades in the Fighting Services are at this time going through with "D" Day, the going back into history—the beginning of the end of this long, tragic war. Our hearts and our thoughts are constantly with them and how "we are pulling for them!"

SEEKS TO BUILD TOURIST CAMP

But Site In Residential Zone —Council Considers

R. C. Wilson, Glenn Avenue, approached the City Council on Monday night for permission to erect a tourist camp on two lots at the south-west corner of Burne Avenue and Richter Street. He stated that the Building Inspector had told him that under the zoning by-law, construction of this type is not permitted south of Harvey Avenue.

The buildings he planned to erect were modern cottages about twenty by twenty-two feet and would be suitable for permanent living quarters, if so desired. He pointed out that already there were two tourist camps located south of Harvey Avenue.

Members of the Council emphasized that the two camps already south of Harvey were constructed before the zoning by-law had been enacted, and therefore there was nothing the City could do about them unless they were unused for a period of six consecutive months. Mr. Wilson was told that the matter would be taken under consideration.

ANGLICAN SYNOD MEETS AT TRAIL

Delegates from Kelowna in attendance at the annual Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Kootenai, which includes the Okanagan, at Trail on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, are Ven. Archdeacon D. S. Catchpole, rector of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, his curate, Rev. W. A. Hewett, and J. R. Beale, W. B. Hughes-Games and O. St. P. Aitkens, laymen.

Archdeacon and Mrs. Catchpole left on Monday, and the other delegates from Kelowna and central and north Okanagan parishes met in Kelowna and on Tuesday morning went to McCulloch by taxi, connecting with the Kettle Valley train there.

Air Raids

"Rolling Attack" Features Present Air Offensive

Allied air forces in Great Britain and Italy number about three times as many planes as the entire German air fleet, according to a recent statement by Prime Minister Churchill. Since the Russian air force is numerically about equal to the Luftwaffe, Germany enters the present decisive phase of the war outnumbered approximately four to one in planes.

Perhaps more important, however, than the Luftwaffe's numerical inferiority is the Allies' technical superiority which has enabled the R.A.F. and A.A.F. to come near to fulfilling the three tasks upon which ultimate victory hinges:

1. The air offensive has begun to assume the form of a "rolling attack." An almost uninterrupted series of blows is being delivered against the main group of targets—industrial sites, military objectives, and communication centres.

2. The individual blows have become sufficiently strong to either bludgeoned or, at least, damage their objectives heavily.

3. The whole target area, that is Western, Central, and South-eastern Europe, has been brought within range of the attacking force.

Feats By Engineers
In the main, this success has been due to two brilliant feats by British and American engineers. The British contribution was the building of planes capable of carrying a super bomb load. No defence construction has been devised yet that can withstand the impact of a direct hit by a six-ton block-buster. The giant missiles not only turn even the fabulous German flak-towers into rubble, but the force of their blast has often brought down far remote buildings that had been slightly damaged in previous attacks.

However, the bombs of extreme weight have one great disadvantage. Only the big British night raiders can carry them. It is too early to say that the Germans have found the answer to night raids—recent figures released by the British Air Ministry show that the average of night bomber losses still remains below the 5 per cent margin—but it appears more likely that they will be able to tackle night raiders than daylight raiders.

Future historians may well mark September 27, 1943, as one of the turning points of the war. On that day, some 500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators were accompanied in their attack on Emden by Thunderbolt fighters. The presence of fighter planes on that raid, which involved a 700-mile round trip, meant that the ingenuity of American engineers had almost trebled the time a fighter plane could stay in the air.

Incredulous To Germans
It can now be disclosed that, according to reliable Underground sources, the German authorities were forewarned of this development. Yet they scoffed at their own intelligence reports and remained stubbornly incredulous.

The emergence of the American long-range fighter can hardly be overestimated. In conjunction with the establishment of air bases in Southern Italy it renders precision bombing of virtually every spot in Germany possible. By the same token, it has considerably increased German fighter losses.

Nevertheless, this does not mean that victory through airpower is in sight. Impressive as the Allied present air offensive may be, it is still far from what it ought to be in order to smash the desperate part of German armament production. Even assuming a speedy growth of the Anglo-American air fleet and a proportionate decline of the Luftwaffe, the time necessary to defeat Germany by bombing alone would still have to be measured in many months.

NEW DELHI—India, by the end of the year 1944-45 will have given the U.S.A. $243,750,000 worth of goods and services through Reciprocal Aid.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES BID ADIEU

Exercises, Banquet and Dance Mark Students' Departure

Rapidly becoming a popular tradition, "Grad Day" celebrated its second year in the Kelowna Senior High School last Friday. Awards were presented in the school auditorium at 2:30 p.m., when an interested audience of students and adults listened to an address by Dr. W. J. Knox, who drew from his own rich experience valuable and inspiring advice for the graduating students.

School Board Chairman Dave Chapman and Mayor G. A. McKay also conveyed congratulations to the graduates. Valedictorian was Grade XII student Dorothy Fowler, chosen from a number of competitors. In her quietly forceful address, she paid a sincere tribute to Kelowna High School and its teachers.

Presentation of major and minor awards was made by School Trustee Mrs. T. Treadgold; academic awards, by Inspector A. S. Matheson.

During the afternoon retiring Student Council President Cecil Hewlett explained some of the functions of the student governing body. Council President-elect Jim Stewart extended a vote of the school to Mr. Knox for his address. School Principal W. J. Logie acted as chairman and spoke briefly on the purpose of Awards Day.

Under the able leadership of Miss Hilma Nuthall, the School Glee Club sang two selections, lending a graceful touch to the afternoon program.

Victors were presented with a special "Grad Day" issue of the school weekly, "The Naitaka," which contained the program. Appropriately, the school Year Book, "The Grizzly," was also published on the same day.

Following the singing of the National Anthem, tea was served in the tastefully decorated school lunch room.

Awards were presented as follows:
Major: Cecil Hewlett, David Leckie, Harold Shugg, Thelma Ciaccia, Clara Spall, Elizabeth Folmer, Jean Bailey, Flora Brown, Ruth Brydon, Ruth Clark, Dot Cowie, George Abbott, Joyce Austin, Dorothy Fowler, Ken Harding, Alan Horner, Edna Hornsberger, Nancy Lemon, Lois McKim, Molly Noonan, Gloria Wyman, Pat Weddell, Faith Wasson, Barbara Turner, Henry Tostenson, Jim Stewart, Rosie Shiksetka.

Academic: Anna Engleman, Meta Black, Audrey Smith, Shirley Stevens, Alan Horner, Jim Stewart, Allison Day, Elizabeth Folmer.

The Anglican Parish Hall was the scene in the evening of the traditional "Grad Banquet." Here a light note prevailed, although speeches held their serious side.

Guests included Mayor and Mrs. G. A. McKay, School Trustee and Mrs. J. M. Brydon, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Matheson, Ven. Archdeacon and Mrs. D. S. Catchpole, School Trustees Mrs. T. Treadgold and A. McKim. The M.C. was Student Council President Cecil Hewlett.

The program included the following toasts: "The King," "The Graduating Class," proposed by Aluma Shela Hampton, with reply by Joyce Austin; "The School Board," proposed by John West, with reply by Trustee Brydon; "The School," proposed by Naitaka Editor Molly Noonan, with reply by Mrs. M. Smith; "The Services," proposed by Senior Cadet Officer Harold Shugg, with reply by L.A.C. Mickey Jones, at present on leave.

His Worship the Mayor spoke briefly, commending the school on its graduating class.

The new President of the Student Council was introduced by Cecil Hewlett. In his reply, President-elect Jim Stewart expressed the thanks of the school for the work done by the retiring president and presented him with a fountain pen.

The program was enlivened with community singing and, as an indication of the feeling of good comradeship, some "poetic" remarks on the teachers by Dave Leckie and Leone Haldane. On behalf of the teachers, Miss A. M. Gale riposted with a few apt comments on the graduating class.

The graduation party was held later in the evening at the Aquatic pavilion, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

GLENMORE
Funeral services for the late Mrs. Emma Hemmerling, who passed away on May 28, were held on Wednesday, May 31, at Grace Baptist Church, Kelowna, with Rev. Mr. Kuyat, assisted by Rev. A. Cutsons, of First Baptist Church, and Leon Tide, a Bible student, officiating. The pallbearers were Messrs. Redlick, Kirch, Sorye, Mattitude, Cramer and Henkel. Interment was in the Kelowna Cemetery.

G. W. H. Reed, who had been a patient in the Kelowna General Hospital several times during the past few months, again entered the Hospital on Monday. Mrs. J. Shanks of Sicamous, is staying with Mrs. Reed while her husband is absent.

Mrs. L. Johnson returned last Saturday to the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. R. Chase, after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. M. Hesselgrave at Okanagan Mission.

Mrs. Percy Rankin spent a few days last week with friends in Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gawley, of Vernon, spent Sunday at the home of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Harden.

Pearl thinning is in full swing this week.

OPTION TO BUY LOTS
On Monday night the City Council gave three readings to a by-law granting an option to Richard Jones and Mary Jones to purchase Lots 34 and 35, Registered Plan 694, numbers 125 and 127 Fuller Avenue. The purchase price set is $100.

COMFORT STATION OPEN
The comfort station, commenced some months ago on Water Street, near the police station, has been completed and is now open. Alderman Hughes-Games reported to the City Council on Monday night.

Land Is Held In Perpetuity For Canadian People

All necessary steps to ensure that the land containing Canadian war graves overseas will be held in perpetuity for the Canadian people were taken long ago by the Dominion Government. It has been announced by Defence Headquarters.

By virtue of a long-standing agreement with the Imperial War Graves Commission, all such properties requisitioned during hostilities by the Canadian Army will be acquired, "not in the manner of sale," but for permanent possession by the Dominion of Canada, the statement revealed.

The Imperial War Graves Commission is the accredited agent of all governments of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the "custodian in perpetuity" of all the graves of fallen members of the Commonwealth's forces. As a symbol of the equality of sacrifice, all headstones are of identical size and design, regardless of rank.

This traditional stone memorial is 2 feet, 6 inches high, 1 foot, 3 inches wide, and 3 inches thick. Ample space is provided on each stone for a personal inscription and the engraving of a religious emblem, if the next-of-kin so desire.

The Commission, in due course, will write to all next-of-kin to obtain particulars of such inscriptions, so that all may be in readiness to make and erect the permanent memorial as soon as opportunity permits. Such details as the next-of-kin wish to have recorded in the permanent printed register will be secured at the same time and in the same way.

The Commission is prepared to mark all war graves with the same distinctive headstone, not only in military cemeteries and Service plots, but also in cases of single and private burials, where relatives wish their dead to share the traditional memorial with their comrades who rest in foreign lands.

The erection of private or unit memorials in military cemeteries or Service plots, however, cannot be permitted. Such a practice would destroy the harmonious appearance of the plots and would violate the Commission's policy of equality of treatment. Civil cemetery authorities, for a like reason, also prohibit the erection of private memorials in Service plots.

The war graves cemeteries, which were laid out in all parts of the world after 1914-18 as a result of the Commission's labors, have been universally recognized as places of quiet beauty, fitting memorials created by the Commission's architects and landscape artists as a final tribute to those who gave their lives in the course of duty. The same meticulous care governs the work of the Commission in the present war.

To attempt such an undertaking in the midst of the confusion of war, however, would not, in the Commission's opinion, be conducive to the satisfactory discharge of its seriously-held responsibilities to the next-of-kin. Until hostilities cease, therefore, Canadian war graves overseas will remain marked by temporary memorials, while the care of the military authorities until taken over by the Commission for permanent embellishment and maintenance.

Relatives who wish to make inquiries respecting war graves should address them to Imperial War Graves Commission, Canadian Agency, 312 Transportation Building, Ottawa, Ont.

Kelowna Loses Second Spencer Cup Match At Vernon By 26 Runs

Playing on their home ground on Sunday last, in the second cricket Cup, the Vernon eleven obtained revenge for their defeat at Kelowna on May 21, and the standing is now even.

Two full innings were played by each side within the five hours of time allotted for the match. Kelowna, weakened by the absence of Johnson, Matthews and Kelly, fell down badly in their first innings but made a manful effort in their second innings to achieve victory, although in vain, Vernon securing a margin of 26 runs on the total.

Vernon lost the toss and opened the batting with the two Palmers, senior and junior. Young Palmer, who scored 107, unbeaten, here last July, failed completely this time, however, and was bowled by Green for "duck." The only batsman to make a real stand was V. Richards, who ran up 27 before he succumbed to a catch, the only one of the other batters being clean bowled and two run out. Green and Walker were credited with four wickets each. The innings closed for Kelowna at 117, and for Vernon at 143.

The Kelowna batsmen were not at all up to form and made a poor showing, the highest individual score being 6, and all were out for the miserable total of 117. In contrast to Vernon, six of the Kelowna men were caught out.

Going in again, Vernon did better than on their first knock, running up 84, to which the Kelowna bowlers made a brave effort. Gervers, 30, Temple, 23, Rawson, 15, and D. Carr-Hilton, 13, all hitting freely. With four wickets down, the total had reached 87, but after only five overs fell cheaply at 6.45 all were out for 107, and Vernon had the game with 26 to the good.

GOLDEN GOOSE LIVES AGAIN IN WAR-TORN CHINA

The Golden Goose lives again and the woman who owns her spends most of the time just watching over her. So says a Canadian recently returned from war-torn China.

Before the war, China exported thousands of pounds of goose feathers, but since the Japanese invasion the little quacking "gold mines" have become almost a casualty of war and therefore doubly precious in China's patient eyes. If a woman is the proud owner of a laying goose, she's set for life, or so she thinks.

A smiling peasant woman in Chengtu, West China, refused $300,000 in depreciated Chinese currency for a single goose, for the bird lays an egg a day. Mrs. Wong, the owner, gets $10 each for hatching eggs, and has so many orders ahead that she can't keep track of them any more.

Chinese women hatch these precious goose eggs by the warmth of their own bodies, keeping them in a little padded pocket between their breasts. This is a job for the older women of the clan, who sit or work quietly in the sun until the life in the egg becomes a newly-hatched maker of more goose feathers, and more money for the little ravaged farms that their peasant owners staunchly refuse to leave.

CANADIANS DON'T KNOW JAPANESE

Mrs. T. Adams, Former Prisoner of Japs, Deplores Failure To Appreciate Japanese Character

"The people of Canada and the United States simply do not understand the Japanese character," Mrs. T. Adams stated last week as she left Kelowna to take up her residence in Victoria, after having lived here for several weeks following her repatriation from China, where she had been held a prisoner of the Japanese.

"Right from Cordell Hull down, the people of the United States do not understand the Japanese. You must live amongst them to appreciate how little they understand the principles of decent living as we understand them."

"On this continent there is a school of thought which argues that we must pamper the Japanese here so that they will not mistreat our people who are being held prisoners by them. That is simple nonsense. Our people held by them are being mistreated and badly mistreated. They could not be treated much worse."

Mrs. Adams was scheduled to speak to the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade last evening, but unfortunately the engagement had to be cancelled. In expressing her regret, she told the Courier that she was particularly sorry because she had intended to elaborate considerably on the talk she had given the Kelowna Rotary Club two weeks ago.

"I feel now that there are many aspects of the manner in which we were treated that I should have told the Rotary Club. Things that the people of this country should know," she said. "It is most harrowing to see the Japanese in this country living as honored guests with all privileges when one cannot forget the conditions under which one's own friends are held in China by the Japanese." She instanced several cases of her friends who had suffered broken legs and arms and had even met death at the hands of the Japanese.

"I have found the people of Kelowna most kind, considerate and

KELOWNA IN BYGONE DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Thursday, June 4, 1914

"Cherries have been ripening during the past ten days, and the first shipment was made on Friday to the prairie by express, the shipper being D. E. Gellatly. This is considerably earlier than the average."

In an exhibition game of lacrosse, played at Vernon on the King's Birthday, the Armstrong team defeated Kelowna by a score of 8 to 4. The Kelowna baseball nine also suffered defeat at the hands of Vernon, losing by 9 to 3.

A. R. Lord, principal of the Kelowna Public School, for several years, resigned his post, effective at the end of the summer term, as he had accepted a position under the Vancouver School Board.

The members of "B" Company, 102nd Regiment, had quite a strenuous time at the training camp at Vernon during the five days they spent there. They were the first infantry to reach the camp on Sunday, May 24th, and spent the first night under canvas with the bare ground beneath them, no straw having been provided for bedding.

Monday morning was devoted to battalion drill along with the other five companies of the regiment, and the afternoon was occupied with a review of the troops and march past before Colonel Roy, District Officer Commanding, with military sports later. On Tuesday morning, the troops left camp for manoeuvres and, for green mountain marches, they were given a gruelling work-out. After skirmishing most of the day with an opposing force and climbing up and down the range of hills dividing Goose Lake from Okanagan Lake, the "Blue Force," to which the Kelowna unit belonged, marched round the head of Okanagan Lake and bivouacked for the night.

The camp at a point about two miles down the west side. The men prepared for a good rest after their long march and hill-climbing, but they were doomed to disappointment as it was decided by the high command to add a night march to the experiences of the wearied troops, and they were routed out at 1.30 a.m. to steal past the "enemy," the "Red Force," whose hosts would have to be driven in so as to permit the hemmed-in Blues to escape. Skirmishing and occupation of various positions, involving much climbing, with gradual descent to Vernon, filled the whole morning, and it was with joy that the order was received to march to camp. About three miles from Vernon, the weather, which had remained cloudy but dry, broke and rain came down in torrents, drenching the men to the skin long before camp was reached. To cap it all, no rations were issued until evening, the supply department holding that rations sufficient for breakfast and lunch had been issued at the bivouac. The distance covered in the two days operations was between 25 and 30 miles, much of it up and down hill, and the men had much to do to get their strength back, and the majority of them were unused to marching, they stood the fatigue very well. The Kelowna company struck camp on Thursday morning, being played out of bounds by the regimental brass band to the accompaniment of cheers from the other companies, and returned home that afternoon by steamer.

Local strawberries have appeared in all the grocery stores in the city.

A team from the Glenmore Gun Club, consisting of R. Hadden, H. Kennedy, W. R. Kirkby, C. Kirkby, M. Paige, R. S. Moe and J. B. Spurrer, won a shoot held at Summerland on the King's Birthday under the auspices of the Summerland Gun Club, scoring 139 points.

The fourth annual Community Rally at Rutland, on June 3rd, was a great success. Races for children and adults were held and there were two games of baseball, as well as football and basketball matches, with sideshows, Boy Scout and Cub stunts, and ice cream and refreshment booths. Rutland defeated Kelowna in the junior baseball event by 8 runs to 3, and also won the senior game from Winfield by 15 runs to 9. Rutland was also victorious over Winfield by 6 runs to 2, and defeated Kelowna by 13 points to nothing.

The acreage of tomatoes planted this year in the Kelowna district was placed at six hundred, according to estimates made by the B.C. Tomato Growers Association. The variety planted was entirely Earliana with the exception of twenty acres of experimental patches of John Bear.

Play for the men's Interior championship took place on the course of the Kelowna Golf Club on June 2, 3 and 4. The winner was F. A. Taylor, of Kelowna, with H. G. Wilson, of Kelowna, runner-up. Entrants included players from Merritt, Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton and Princeton, besides Kelowna.

Like a bolt from the clear sky came the intimation on Wednesday, June 4th, that John Armstrong MacKelvie, M.P. for Yale, had died suddenly that morning in Ottawa. There had been nothing to indicate that he was not in his usual good health, and the news was a stunning blow to his supporters and multitude of friends throughout the constituency. Previous to entering Parliament, Mr. MacKelvie edited the Vernon News for many years.

JAMS ARE RATIONED TO SAVE SUGAR

As Much Sugar Required For Poorer As For Better Grades

"Most people do not appreciate that there is just as much sugar required to manufacture pectin or compound jams as to manufacture pure jam," W. P. Symons, Interior ration officer, stated when replying to a question as to why it took the same number of coupons to purchase the pectin or compound jams as it does the pure jam.

"There are three grades of jam manufactured," he stated. "These are pure, pectin and compound. In all three grades it takes sixty-five pounds of sugar to obtain a hundred pounds of jam. And you must remember that it is the sugar that is rationed."

"In the pure strawberry jam, for instance, there is 65 pounds of sugar, 32 pounds of strawberries and out of this is added 20 pounds of apples and the result is 100 pounds of jam."

"In the pectin grade of jam the 65 pounds of sugar goes in but there is only 32 pounds of strawberries. To this is added 20 pounds of apples and the result is 100 pounds of jam."

"In the compound grade the 65 pounds of sugar goes in first but there is only 15 pounds of strawberries, while the apples run up to 37 pounds, to make 100 pounds of jam. "From these figures it is obvious that, since it is sugar that is rationed, there can be no difference in the amount of any grade of jam obtainable with a ration coupon."

"It is up to the housewife to decide for which quality of jam she wishes to surrender her 'D' coupon. If money in cash is not a consideration, naturally the pectin jam is the pure or the pectin jam. If money is a consideration, then she is more apt to surrender the coupon for the compound jam. This grade is most popular, and the content of the sugar in each grade is the same."

There are 26 "D" coupons per person. Estimating the population of Kelowna at 15,000, this means there are 390,000 "D" coupons available for purchasing plain sugar, or other sugars such as honey, etc., canned fruits, jam, jelly, and marmalade.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is following the buying habits of the Canadian housewife continuously and carefully, and it would appear that, at the present time, the surrender of "D" coupons for plain sugar, there will be ample coupons left over for the purchase of jams, jellies and marmalade of good quality.

The whole idea of the "D" coupon, and of the rationing of jams and marmalade, which have a high sugar content, is the control of sugar, and the sugar situation is at present more serious than at any time since the commencement of the war.

Five hundred thousand volunteer farm workers will be needed in Britain this year, because farmers will have more than 500,000 extra acres to harvest. From 150,000 to 200,000 volunteers for agricultural camps will be needed, more than 200,000 school children during holidays; up to 60,000 members of volunteer land clubs who give regular help to farmers and market gardeners will be needed, also more members from rural areas to join the Emergency Land Corps.

were Knight's Early variety and went to the Edmonton market. Last year the first shipment of cherries went out on June 24th, nearly three weeks later. The advanced season is bringing on practically all produce much earlier this year."

The one-story building on Water Street north, occupied by the Kelowna Creamery and the Guisachan Dairy, sustained extensive damage by an outbreak of fire early on Tuesday, June 6th. The Fire Brigade fought the outbreak from about midnight until four a.m., when it was finally conquered. All butter in stock was removed without serious damage and the machinery suffered little injury, owing to the efficient work of the Brigade, but about four thousand pounds of cream was destroyed. The loss upon the building, which was owned by the Okanagan Loan & Investment Trust Co., was considerable but was covered by insurance. Arrangements were made by the directors of the Creamery to have the cream of patronage handled by the Vernon creamery, pending resumption of operations here.

Under skies heavy and threatening with rain, but which later lightened and cleared, the Rutland annual Rally Day sports provided an interesting and successful program. A leading feature of the day was a baseball tournament for the Lloyd-Jones Cup, in which four teams entered. Rutland, Winfield, Capilano and Simpsons, the two latter both of Kelowna. Capilano won the final game from Winfield, 6-5. The Rutland girls defeated Winfield at softball by 24 runs to 12. A program of nineteen field and track events for youngsters of all ages brought out keen competition, and a dance in the evening taxed the capacity of the Community Hall.

PREMATURE PICKING WASTEFUL

Summerland Expert Reiterates Fruit an Irresistible Appeal. Quality Consists of Attractive Appearance, Tender Juicy Texture, Delicious Flavor, a Balanced Sugar-Acid Combination, and Characteristic Color and Aroma.

Quality is something that gives fruit an irresistible appeal. Quality consists of attractive appearance, tender juicy texture, delicious flavor, a balanced sugar-acid combination, and characteristic color and aroma. The natural blending of these properties produces a fruit of fine varietal character, says J. E. Britton, Summerland Experimental Station, Summerland.

Through the life process of the plant or tree, fruits are produced. The natural development takes place until the fruit is mature, when it is ready to be picked. When mature, no further compounds may be added from the parent plant, but the fruit continues as a living organism and comparable changes take place within it during the ripening process. Generally, the more desirable changes occur after the fruit is picked at correct maturity. Usual ripening changes take place after picking, but it is essential that they reach maturity before picking in order to develop the desired quality. The ripening process is hastened by high temperatures and are retarded by refrigeration.

The practice of picking immature fruit in order to gain an early market is wasteful and has hurt the popularity of fruit among consumers. Fruit picked too soon does not possess inherent quality and will not ripen properly. Of equal bad effect to the fruit industry is the practice of leaving fruit unpicked after it is mature, so as to gain additional size or color. Over-mature fruit does not keep well and soon becomes mealy and practically useless.

As an aid to growers in determining the best time to pick fruit, the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, has prepared an index by which fruits can be tested for maturity. These tests are now being used by growers so that they can deliver the best quality fruit to consumers. The key to fruit quality is correct maturity at harvest.

KAMLOOPS STAMPEDE GREAT SHOW

Two Day Celebration Expected To Break All Records For Entertainment

The two-day Kamloops Stampede, under the direction of the Kinsmen Club of that city, is going to be the biggest entertainment event ever staged in the mainline city.

Outstanding trick riders in Western Canada and the United States will vie for the $2,400 in prize money that is being offered. The show will run the gamut of stamper events, such as roping, bronc riding, barrel racing, races and other stunts to thrill and chill the crowd.

The dates are June 30-July 1 and parades will be a feature on both days, with prizes offered for ladies' and men's costumes, Indians, juveniles and the best parade horse. There will be three nights of carnivals and midway frolic starting June 28 and ending on June 29. The show will be held at beautiful Riverside Park, and an open air dance floor will feature swing and cowboy orchestras.

On the night of July 1 the drawings for the prizes from ticket sales will be held, with the 1942 Buick sedan being the feature.

On the first evening's program is the crowning of the Stampede Queen, with entrants from all over the valley.

All entries for the Stampede must be filed at the Kamloops office not later than 8 p.m., June 28, and a detailed prize list can be secured from Gordon Nicol at Kamloops.

THE FUTURE FOR FIGHTERS

Answers to Questions About The Rehabilitation Program for Service Men and Women

UNIVERSITY TRAINING

Q.—Is there any provision for me to fulfill my ambition to get a university education?

A.—Yes. If you can qualify for university entrance within fifteen months of your discharge, you may receive one month of university education for every month you were in the service. In this way, a man with two years' service could secure three eight-month terms of university education, on the scale of grants authorized by the Post Discharge Re-Establishment Order.

Q.—Is this period of time a right?

A.—Not necessarily. As stated before, Canada's rehabilitation program is designed for the man who wants to help himself. Provision is made that no year for which grants have been paid may be repeated on these grants, nor may a university student carry any supplementary work in a following year.

Q.—Is there any reward for scholarship and effort?

A.—Yes. The student whose standards of effort and scholarship justify it, on the recommendation of his university, may receive assistance, beyond his period of service, to enable him to complete his course. An outstanding student can go on to post-graduate work.

Q.—Is there any financial assistance in addition to the maintenance grants?

A.—All fees are paid, including athletic fees. The student, however, must buy his own books.

Q.—If I fall in a university year and decide that I want to take vocational training, can I do this?

A.—It can be done if your period of service is sufficiently long. You cannot, however, exhaust the benefits to which your service entitled you in university and then receive these benefits during vocational training. In the same way, out-of-work benefits and temporary incapacity benefits would result in the time of your enlistment to other benefits being shortened.

(The Veterans' Land Act will be explained in the next instalment in this series.)

BRITISH WOMEN TAKE OVER HOTTEST JOBS

In the retort house of a fuel gas factory somewhere in England, a group of women have completed their first year in the hottest job attempted by women in Britain's total war.

For 42 hours a week the women work in a veritable inferno of roaring furnaces, grit and heat. It is their job to feed coal into the furnaces, where it burns in an atmosphere with less oxygen in it than ordinary air and gives off illuminating gas, which is stored in vast bell-like containers.

There are three shifts in the retort house, the early shift clocking in at dawn. Between 9.00 and 10.00 comes the break for the mid-morning meal and then another four hours of work. The women take their night shifts along with the men.

These women stokers average two days off a week, and they receive first-class medical attention. Doctors have found that their health is unimpaired by their strenuous jobs.

Several small privileges come to the gas girls. They get special allowance of tea to quench their thirst in the torrid heat. They have more time off than factory workers and, what is one of the best of all compensations, they receive their soap free of coupons.

DIRTY WORK

Foreign women working in Germany are being used for dirty, exhausting labor, German women for clean, light work, according to a statement made by a Nazi labor bureau chief cited in a Moscow overseas broadcast recently.

Auxiliary of 9th Armored Need Financial Help

Mrs. G. D. Cameron and Mrs. H.
Williams appeared before the City Council on Monday night representing the Women's Auxiliary to the 9th Armored Regiment, and asked for a city grant to assist the auxiliary's work and also the right to hold a tag day.

Mayor McKay pointed out that a tag day was practically out as early in the war the Council decided that it would grant only six tag days a year and that these were now all taken up. The matter of a grant will be considered on the return of Alderman O. L. Jones, who some time ago had been asked to investigate and make a report on the necessity of such a grant when a letter had been received from the auxiliary.

Mayor McKay pointed out that the obtaining of both a grant and a tag day by the organization would be unfair, as it would mean that the same people would be paying twice.

Alderman Hughes-Games suggested that the larger picture should be considered and it should be remembered that there are at least two hundred men from this area in the air force, another fifty in the navy, and several hundred in units other than the 9th Armored. He said it would be a fine thing if some congratulation could look after all Kelowna men in the forces.

It was said that there are 206 men from the whole Okanagan in the 9th Armored.

The tag days now held are by the Hostess Club, the Preventorium, the Hospital Auxiliary, the Minesweepers' Fund, the I.O.D.E. Dr. Knox Chapter, and the I.O.D.E. Mary Ellen Boyce Chapter. Various Council members expressed regret that the original plan of handling these war efforts through the War Charities Committee had not been continued.

Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Armstrong, 4040 Victoria Drive, Vancouver, announce the engagement of their daughter, Vivian Marjorie, to Thomas Lewellyn (Lynn) Harding, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Harding, Kelowna. The wedding will take place on June 12th, 1944, at 8 p.m., at the home of the bride's parents, Rev.
James W. Melvin will officiate.

BUILDING CONDEMNED
The City Council was advised on Monday night that Building Inspector Fred Gore had condemned an old stable at 191 Richter Street. This building at one time had been used as a dwelling but was considered unfit for human habitation and, as it had been empty for more than thirty days, it had been condemned.

"Gentle All-Bran keeps me regular"

"You bet I think ALL-BRAN is helpful for constipation. It sure helped me.
You see I'd been dosing myself for years with many kinds of purgatives which helped only briefly. But eating ALL-BRAN keeps me free of that. Now
I'm regular as a clock — and I like ALL-BRAN
a lot."

do, if your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. Simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, and drink plenty of water. This wholesome cereal helps to produce smooth-working "bulk", and prepares wastes for easy elimination. So, to stay

POLICE NOTE JUVENILE CRIME

The monthly police report received by the City Council on Monday night again emphasized that the principal work of the police had been in connection with juveniles. "While there has been no major criminal offence for several months, the force's chief occupation with juvenile offenders has been no exception."

The report pointed out that during the month four boys of juvenile age had been committed to the industrial school and six more were

TRANSPORT COMMAND HAD SMALL START

International Body Said Plan Not Feasible — Canadian Triumph

In three and a half years of Arctic flying, aviation has developed more than it might in thirty years of peace, according to Royal Air Force Transport Command.

Three months before the outbreak of war, a conference of international postal authorities in London, England, decided that a North Atlantic route was not feasible for any regular air mail run, especially during the winter. Five years later, bombers fly the North and South Atlantic runs every day in the year.

As for the international postal authorities, the postal authorities were the loudest when the Royal Air Force Transport Command announced not so long ago (1) that its twelve military transport mail let-tered aircraft had been delivered in Britain, (2) that mail posted in Vancouver had been delivered in Britain—six thousand miles away—within 72 hours, and (3) that no loop mail or airgraphs had been lost on this service.

It took the collapse of France to get things started. Britain was fighting alone against tremendous odds. The Royal Air Force had to be chosen, which at that time made the trip across the ocean lashed to the decks or stored in the holds of cargo ships.

RUTLAND PARK OPERATING DIFFICULTIES

Caretaker Difficulty Presents Problem—Operating Deficit For Year

The annual meeting of the Rutland Park Society was held on Thursday evening, June 1. Originally called for the pavilion at the swimming pool, the cold, wet weather made the open air pavilion unsuitable and the meeting adjourned to Bob White's service station. The financial statement was presented by the Treasurer, D. H. Campbell, and showed the following receipts: Swimming pool, $54.00; balance forward from 1942, $135.97; total, $189.97. Expenditures: caretaker, $80.00; sundries, $12.01; total, $92.01; balance on hand, $97.96. The Society actually had an operating deficit of $38.07, due mainly to lack of any skating rink this past winter, this being in previous years the main source of revenue. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining a caretaker, and the lack of young men to take a lead in organizing activities in connection with the park, it was feared that it might not be possible to operate the swimming pool this summer. Arrangements were made to hold a "bee" on Wednesday of this week to clean up the grounds, and it was decided to adjourn the meeting to that date and to hold the election of officers then, when it was hoped that a larger attendance could be obtained.

VERNON HOPES FOR JAPANESE

Browne Heads Party To Slocan In Search Of Orchard Labor

Vernon growers' hopes of securing a large number of young Japanese for orchard work have not been fulfilled, according to reports from the northern city.

A party of Vernon men, headed by A. Browne, chairman of the North Okanagan Labor Committee, and K. G. Clarke, Selective Service manager, visited the Slocan area recently and returned with news that over 30 would be available.

They reported having found approximately 300 Japanese school boys and girls, between 16 and 18, willing to come to the Okanagan in time for the thinning season and to continue to work throughout the period of picking. "They will be returned to their homes immediately after picking concludes," declared Mr. Browne.

Last week, however, K. G. Clarke stated that only 88 of the expected 300 had volunteered. He has their names listed at the Selective Service office in Vernon. They will be distributed to the farmers who have made application for them. Mr. Clarke added that he had no definite confirmation of any more of these young Japanese coming from Slocan.

APRIL SALE OF WAR SAVINGS

War Savings purchases for the month of April in the Kelowna district amounted to $4,802.50, Ottawa reports. This figure, coupled with that of March, brings the two-month total to well over $14,000.

In April, the banks sold over the counter 46 Certificates for $356 and sent one to Ottawa for $40. Bank pledges for the month were 255, representing $1,620. Certificates sold by the banks, therefore, totalled $2,016.

Group payroll Certificates accounted for $1,968, while the post offices throughout the district sold $84.00 to make the month's Certificate sale $4,068.

War Savings Stamps sold in the city totalled $683 and in the district, $71.50, bringing the total War Savings for the month to $4,802.50.

MANHATTAN RESIDENTS PROTEST

Ask Council To Prevent South End of Guy Street Being Used As Slipway

Thirty-six residents or property owners of the Manhattan Beach area presented a petition to the City Council Monday night, objecting to the use of the south end of Guy Street by the provincial Department of Public Works for a ferry slipway.

Guy is the street which forms the hypotenuse of the triangle formed by the sides of Manhattan Beach. A lot at the northern end of this street was desired by the Public Works department for the construction of a permanent slipway, on which every four years the m.s. Pendozi would be hauled out of the lake for examination.

This suggestion was opposed vigorously by the people of the Manhattan area, who claimed that the structure would be unsightly and would spoil a residential district. As the lot in question was in a residential zone and not an industrial zone, the Council also opposed this use of the lot.

Apparently the department has now turned its attention to the south end of Guy Street and is considering using the street as a slipway. The width of the street is in a residential zone, while the east side is in an industrial zone as outlined by the zoning by-law.

In their petition the 36 signers stated, "We, the undersigned, being owners or occupants of property at Manhattan Beach, in the vicinity of the south end of Guy Street, Kelowna, do hereby petition the City Council not to permit the use of the foreshore adjacent to the south end of Guy Street for the purpose of construction thereon of a government slip. We further urge that the access to the lake provided by the south end of Guy Street be maintained, and that no construction or works be permitted which will interfere with access to the lake by the south end of such street."
